

Multinational engineering firms and consultants continuously utilise Maxcon Industries' wealth of knowledge and exceptional safety record to ensure project delivery is both on time and on budget.

Maxcon Industries has worked alongside many large engineering houses to design and manufacture the steel components for large all-encompassing projects.

We have been selected repeatedly by these large engineering firms because of our consistent delivery of fabricated items, on time and within strict engineering parameters.